CORA BOWMAN'S BODY.

It was Caught on a Fisherman's Line at Martin's Ferry.

SHE WAS DRUNK AT A FISHING CAMP

In Company with her Mother, and was next Found Drowned in the River—Doubt as to Whether her Death was due to Accident, Suicide or Fool Play—She was a Resident of North Wheeling.

The body of Cora Bowman, an eighteen-year-old girl, who was drowned near a fishing camp above Glenn's Run on Sunday evening, was found in the river just below the Union bridge yesterday morning. The Bowman girl, who resided on the river bank near the First Ward school building, this city, was at a fishing camp near the Gaylord coal works on Sunday, with her mother, and both were drunk. Miss Bowman wandered away from the fishing camp between 5 and 9 o'clock and did not return. It is supposed that she walked down the river shore to the Burlington bar and was drowned in the deep hole just below it. Nothing had been heard of her until Constable T. H. Stanton, of Martin's Ferry, went to the camp last evening and learned that the description he gave was exactly that of the missing girl.

She was known as "Tootsey" Bowman, and was an attractive girl of eighteen with auburn hair and blue eyes.

Mr. Kothaver, the night toll keeper on the Union bridge, says that he heard a woman scream two or three times along the West Virginia shore about 12 o'clock on Sunday night, but heard nothing after that time.

He says he knows of no disturbance on or near the bridge on Monday night. He did not see the Bowman girl on Sunday or Monday night.

Thomas Moore and George Reesbeck, who live in Martin's Ferry, near the Union bridge, heard a splash under it in the water, on Monday night. Her body was caught on a trot line by Alvin McAmie, of Martin's Ferry. He was looking at his line about 6 o'clock and felt a great weight on the line. This he supposed was a big fish, and he carefully drew his boat over to the place, where he was horrified to find the body of a woman on the line, clothing having caught on one of the hooks. The body was towed to the Ohio shore.

The point at which it was found was near the Ohio shore. Coroner J. E. Lowman, of Belmont county, was called. He soon arrived, but did not hold an inquest. The body was conveyed to the undertaking establishment of G. F. Leach, on Fayette street, where it was viewed by a large number of persons during the day. The internment was at Riverview last evening.

At first it was supposed to be the body of the Wellsburg girl who disappeared on July 22. Several persons who saw the face declared that it was the body of Mary Pond, of North Wheeling. Word was sent to Fannie Pond, a sister of Mary, who soon arrived, and after closely examining the body and clothing stated positively that it was not her sister Mary. Several friends of Mary Pond, both male and female, also said that it was not her body.

One man declared that it was Jane Pond, that he knew her well, had gone to school with her, and so on.

William McKnight said that it was not Mary Pond, and that he had seen Mary and Jane in Brilliant late Monday night.

Others thought the body was that of Mollie Ayers, but she is in the county jail here.

The drowned woman was about five feet four inches tall and weighed about 110 pounds. She wore a black cotton waist, white corset and skirt with black stripes, leather belt with silver buckles and morocco buttoned shoes with patent leather tips. She wore a sterling silver ring on the second finger of the right hand with green lizard on it. The only paper found was a small piece of a song sheet, tucked away in the bosom of her cotton waist. The name of this song had been torn off, and it told of a young man who had told her of his love, won her affections, then married another girl; ever since that time she had been unhappy and she wished to be laid away carefully, etc.

When the body was first found the face was not discolored, and looked as if it had not been in the water more than fifteen hours. There were no marks of violence, and whether she committed suicide by drowning or was thrown in the river is not known positively.

An Interesting Collection.

Blackburn Schultz, son of Squire Schultz, of the Eighth ward, has quite a collection of fossils, stone implements, flints and petrifications. His latest acquisition is a large piece of petrified oak, which shows the bark and fibres of the wood very distinctly. It was found on the Ohio side of the river and it is stated there is a whole log thus petrified. He has in his collection a small stone in the shape of a shoe, and another which closely resembles a petrified potato.

The Bareback Club.

The Bareback Fishing Club, of the Sixth ward, is located at Thompson's landing, Marshall county, and are catching lots of fish. Among the members are John T. Edgell, captain; D. F. Rust, treasurer; Frank Edzell and Robert Conwell, bait diggers; Ike Nougley, hunter. Their families are with them and their friends are welcome.

Burley & Bro., the Mountville civil engineers, and about forty cottages have already been built. ### THE OLD CAMPGROUND.

Personal and Other Newsw Notes From Mountville's Popular Resort.

The White Rose Co-operative Club is the name under which about thirty people will have a grand camp out on Mountville camp grounds during the meeting from the 9th to the 19th of August. The club is being organized because of the insufficiency of the accommodations. Mr. James W. Bodley has kindly let them have the use of the rooms up stairs in the assembly hall. The bowling alley will be used for a dining hall. Mr. and Mrs. Topp, who have just come from Allegheny City, will have charge, and everyone expects to have a grand good time. Among those who are expected to be there are Albert Dietrich, Frank Taylor, from Clearington; Mr. Hunter, from Columbus; T. Riggs, from Powhatan, and quite a number from Pittsburgh.

Quite a large party of camp ground people lived a hack and went over to the colored people's camp meeting, which is being held on Alfred Tomlinson's place. A heavy shower rather spoiled their afternoon's pleasure. Among the unfortunates were N. W. Beck, J. A. Ewing, Mr. Lapp and others.

Charley Robb is recruiting on the camp grounds, after his wonderful and exciting trip through the backwoods of West Virginia with Mr. Bell and others. There is some talk of holding the Teachers' Institute in the assembly hall. It is now being held at the court house at Mountville.

Harry Clark, of Wheeling, spent Sunday with Miss Marguerite Waefful, who is stopping at the hotel.

Sunday was hot on the campgrounds, but several welcome showers made the evening very pleasant.

Dr. Eskey, with his wife and two children, of Benwood, are stopping at the hotel. Miss Nellie Lyle, of Dallaire, is visiting Miss Jessie McMahon, at the hotel. Mr. Lyon Frank spent Sunday at the hotel.

Zane Street Sunday School Picnic.

The scholars of the Zane Street Methodist Sunday School, spent yesterday at Miller's Grove and had a most enjoyable time. There was an exciting game of ball between the Never-Swatts and Bluffers, teams composed of boys from the Sunday School. The captain of the Never-Swatts was Bert Graham and of the Bluffers Tom McGranahan. The game was won by the Never-Swatts by a score of 10 to 8. One of the players was injured by a ball striking him on the head, but he pluckily played the remainder of the game.

Belmont County Prohibitionists.

The Prohibitionists of the district over the river will name a candidate for Congress and also candidates for county offices at Bridgeport to-day. The names of John A. Gallick and T. A. Rodefer, both of Dallaire, are mentioned in connection with the congressional nomination.

A UNIVERSAL BEAUTIFIER—Harmless, effective, and agreeable, Ayer's Hair Vigor has taken high rank among toilet articles. This preparation causes thin, weak hair to become abundant, strong, and healthy, and restores gray hair to its original color.

The Concert and Lawn Fete at St. Luke's P. E. church, Island, Thursday evening, will be a grand affair. Don't fail to attend.
